The case of the United States against the John II estate and others, heard this morning in the federal court here, may be made the basis of a big will contest from Hawaii in the Supreme Court of the United States. It may also be the occasion of the first sending of a federal judge here from California to sit as a substitute for Judge Dole, as there is a claim that he is disqualified to hear the matter. The suit came up this morning before Judge Dole in the form of an application by

District Attorney Breckons for a decree giving the government title to the land, for Pearl Harbor land, for naval purposes. As to this part of the case, it was held that Dole is not disqualified. The suit was brought to condemn 50 acres of land at the makai end of Waipio peninsula, the government setting a valuation of $5,000 on it. The defendants were the John II estate and all the parties who were heirs under

BROWN MAY HAVE A RIVAL

SAM JOHNSON OR SOME OTHER FOURTH DISTRICT MAN MAY BE BROUGHT OUT FOR SHERIFF

Sam Johnson may be brought forward as a candidate for county sheriff it is now stated. The biggest kind of a split between Johnson and Brown is threatened, unless harmony is secured at the caucus to be held this evening. It is all over the off reported Brown pledges Johnson threatens to withdraw his support of Brown unless the latter comes out openly for the Johnson supervisors, as against men who are understood to intend to fire Johnson if they get elected. It is said that a failure to agree tonight is not unlikely to see either Sam or some other Fourth district man, brought forward with the road machine working for him, thus suddenly developing the possibility of a close convention contest for the nomination for sheriff.

PASSED THE COOPER BUCK TO J. C. LANE

The effort to ring in an endorsement of H. E. Cooper as successor to Governor Carter in the Republican platform, and the cutting out of Governor Carter's name from the plank endorsing his administration created a lively discussion at the Merchants' meeting on the Young Hotel roof garden at 2 o'clock today. There was a report received by some of the merchants that in the committee on platform at Wailuku, W. R. Farrington had represented that the merchants were in favor of Cooper and in favor of leaving out Carter's name, and it was because of this report that many in the meeting were ready to take very summary action. Farrington denied complicity and passed the buck up to John C. Lane.

J. P. Cooke offered a resolution against naming any successor by the merchants to Governor Carter. The resolution was carried.

The resolution offered by Cooke, and adopted, said that it had been represented at the convention that the business men of Honolulu were "outspoken" in their desire for an endorsement of "a certain person" for governor, at the end of Carter's term. The name of Cooper was not given, but it was generally known that he was the certain person.

After a whereas setting forth the fact of the Wailuku representatives, the resolution declared that the business men of Honolulu, as represented at the meeting, had not endorsed anyone for governor, and did not deem it expedient at this time to do so.

W. R. Farrington arose and said that he had been accused of doing underhanded politics at the Wailuku convention. He said that it was J. C. Lane that had offered the resolution there. Farrington said that he was not in any way connected with the proposed endorsement of Cooper. He stated he had fought four hours in the Platform Committee for Governor Carter. He disclaimed all knowledge of it.

J. P. Cooke broke in on Mr. Farrington and said that it was represented to H. P. Baldwin at the convention that the business men of Honolulu were back of it. It was this that he did not like.

"If I acted in bad faith with any of the business men of this city I am sorry," concluded Mr. Farrington, "but I do not think I acted in bad faith."

J. P. Cooke urged that the resolution be passed, for J. C. Lane did not do what was right, and that he misrepresented the business men at Wailuku. He said he was glad to hear that Mr.

Farrington had nothing to do with it. The resolution was passed.

"Whatever Mr. Farrington has to say to the Merchants does not concern me," said John C. Lane this afternoon, when told of the speech made by W. R. Farrington at the meeting of the Merchants at the Young Hotel. "Mr. Farrington speaks for himself. The record of the Convention stands and I have nothing to say. As I said before, Mr. Farrington speaks for himself, and for himself alone."

The second meeting of the business men was called to order by Chairman Morgan this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Most of the representative men of the city were present.

The object of the meeting today was the endorsing of county candidates. Chairman Morgan stated that the meeting today was an adjourned meeting from the one on Thursday last.

T. H. Petrie took Secretary Wood's place and read the minutes of the previous meeting. The letters written to the Republican Territorial convention which was held at Wailuku, Maui, on Saturday last were read. Each letter contained one of the resolutions passed

THE WIND-UP AT WAILUKU

CHANGES MADE IN PLATFORM

THE DRAFT AND FINAL COPY OF PLATFORM OF REPUBLICAN PARTY DIFFER MATERIALLY.

The Republican Territorial convention completed its labors at Wailuku on last Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock after being in session all day with the exceptions of recesses taken by the convention to await the reports of committees appointed for various purposes. On the whole the convention was very successful in its work, for all factions are apparently satisfied and every one of the delegates expressed himself as satisfied with the platform as drawn up and they think that on it they will proceed to victory in the coming campaign.

Several important changes were made in the platform from the draft of the platform that was first drawn up. The chair appointed the following to act as a platform committee.

First District, J. T. Moir and J. W. Moanau; Second, F. W. Greenwell and H. L. Holstein; Third, W. T. Robinson and W. O. Aiken; Fourth, W. R.

KUHIO NAMED AMID EXCITEMENT

CONVENTION CHEERED WILDLY WHEN HE WAS NAMED AS DELEGATE—SANG NATIONAL AIR.

Without one dissenting vote Jonah Kuhio Kahanalanaole was chosen on Saturday last at the Republican Territorial Convention as their candidate for Delegate to Congress, the highest gift in their power. The nomination was made amid the wildest of excitement and was followed directly afterwards by the singing of the national Hawaiian air "Hawaii Ponoi." For a few moments in the convention old men and young men slapped each other upon the back and all shouted with one accord, "Kuhio for Congress." Then the glee club started the famous air, so dear to all Hawaiians and then it was that the convention sobered in a moment and with bowed heads sang the national air.

It was Stephen L. Desha, the silver tongued orator of the Hawaiians, that placed Kuhio in nomination. His remarks were interpreted by W. J. Coelho an orator of no mean merit. Desha spoke of the work accom-

DELEGATES GIVEN A GRAND LUAU

SPLENDID TIME HAD BY DELEGATES AT WAILUKU AFTER THE CLOSING OF THE CONVENTION.

Following the Republican convention at Wailuku the delegates were all invited to a grand luau given by the people of Maui. H. P. Baldwin invited the convention to attend the luau which, as he informed them, was "to be held in the armory just below the jail." He added that he hoped none of them would get into jail by mistake or otherwise.

At 6 o'clock all of the delegates gathered at the Armory where four long tables were placed and upon which all of the Hawaiian dishes were served. After a short prayer by Stephen L. Desha the delegates seated themselves and enjoyed the repast.

After an hour had been spent in eating the delegates went to a church fair which had been arranged. Admission was charged and as is the custom at all fairs several booths were in evidence where all kinds of trinkets were sold. Soon after the arrival of the
